

Sketch

---

Volume 41, Number 1

1975

Article 9

---

Poem

Kari Beck*

*Iowa State University

Copyright ©1975 by the authors. Sketch is produced by The Berkeley Electronic Press (bepress).
<http://lib.dr.iastate.edu/sketch>

Poem

Kari Beck

Abstract

To feel the ocean, you have to get your feet wet. To feel the sand, you have to take your shoes off. To catch a star, you have to get burned... just a little.

The Wind

by B'Yani Ohm
Statistics (Grad)

Dirty thick wind
Howling, sniffing and hissing
Bruising trees and houses,
Brawling with itself
In its frenzied scramble
For nothing?
The uncovetable ultimate.

Poem

by
Kari Beck
Elementary Education 1

To feel the ocean,
    you have to get your feet wet.
To feel the sand,
    you have to take your shoes off.
To catch a star,
    you have to get burned . . .
                    just a little.